Introduction to Sheba's Pussycat Horoscope

For many of us, our pets are our best friends and constant, loyal companions. They are neither judgmental nor critical of our own personal individual traits and characters. They co-habit with us in a delicate balance of nature versus nurture that can, with a little help, be cultured to our mutual benefit in order to achieve a greater understanding and more meaningful relationship.

Like us, each 'friend' has a different personality and is special in their own individual way. Every one has a unique horoscope which can help to reflect their character traits, wants, needs, and the degree of harmony with which they are able to co-exist with each other and share our work or play times. Such an understanding helps us to seek ways to improve and accept our shared lives and to harmonize and channel our energies to mutual benefit.

Using a chart for the 'day' on which our pet is born we can make this knowledge work for us by gaining an understanding of each of their individual personalities and talents.

Since kittens and puppies are usually born in litters, it is often not possible to find out their exact 'time' of birth as few breeders document the sequence in which each individual is born and because of this, the Sun's sign is used as a basis for forming our pet's chart.

However, by using a chart based on the day on which our companion is born an incredible amount of information is available to help and guide us towards a happier and more rewarding friendship.

SUN - Sheba's Vitality

The source of life in your pussycat is denoted by the Sun's position in her chart as this is the key to her true personality. The Sun radiates warmth, energy and spirit but is not always visible and this is the same with your pussycat. Like the sun she will wrap you in healing, loving warmth and bring light and energy into your life and heart. However, like a cloud briefly masking the Sun a different side to her can emerge. Once you have truly gained Sheba's trust and love the sunshine will always be yours but strangers will only see the glimpses she allows.

Sun in Pisces - Receptive

Sheba is likely to be a sensitive cat. Similar to the water in the oceans, she will range from calm through to storms, depending on what 'undercurrents' she picks up and that are influencing her at any one particular time. Sheba is a very trusting pussycat hence the powerful effect outside influences can have upon her. Sheba is a cat to behold and admire; keep an eye on this dreamy cat and she will learn to look to you for the safe way forward. Provide for her and her needs, but most of all enjoy Sheba, she's lovely.

MOON - Sheba's Instinctive Responses

The position of the Moon, in your pussycat Sheba's chart, is second only in importance to the position of the Sun in determining who she really is. The Moon represents Sheba's emotions, feelings and safety felt and needed by her. Remember pets have emotions like your own and you can enhance your relationship with Sheba by bonding with her, and by becoming acquainted with the way she feels as well as providing the appropriate care, understanding and security her innate nature suggests she needs.

Moon in Aries - High spirits

Sheba could well provide you with a fur ball of fury when you least expect it. Sheba is the type of pussycat unlikely to look before she leaps - and leap she certainly does. Primarily a loner, she will not take kindly to sharing you or her patch with anything or anyone else. Be prepared for the odd chunk of ear missing as she returns triumphant from her latest battle. This 'return' may take a couple of days so don't worry if she misses the odd meal, she will come home in her own time. You will love Sheba's exuberance and her unique character.

♀ MERCURY - Sheba's Understanding

Mercury, the planet of communication, enables all forms of passing on information. For Sheba, it gives her the ability to send you messages using body language, actions, and of course vocally. It is important to be aware and receptive to the information Sheba gives you because the more you understand about this very complex and independent feline, the closer the bond you will have with her and the ensuing love you share will be very special and rewarding.

Mercury in Pisces

Sheba's mind is full of the flowing undercurrents that she picks up from the Ether. Sheba has a strong imagination and is sensitive to the world around her. As she is a very intuitive cat, she may well try and communicate with you on a level that is beyond your understanding. Sheba is beautiful and fully aware of her ability to use this beauty to get what she wants. If you want to get to her, give her the recognition she craves but do not let her dominate the situation - otherwise your salmon bills will be astronomical! Make her work out the situation for herself - it's a two way street - and enjoy the deepest of relationships.
