

Justin Timberlake

This is your Pathfinder Report, personalised to the date, time and place of your birth; based on the principle that you are happiest when you are doing what you want to do most.

The ancients believed that, at the moment of birth, as the soul journeys to the earth, it brings with it the influences of the planets which it passes on its way. This set of influences becomes the individual's map or horoscope. It becomes their internalised path.

Purposelessness is perhaps the greatest dis-ease of our time. Without meaning life is empty. But what is the purpose and meaning of this life ? Why are we here ?

We are here to walk our path, on the earth, beneath the sky. The inner sky becomes our path on earth.

This Pathfinder Report asks the question:

How Do I Get There ?

Is about your path. How you channel, filter and focus who you are. The place where you find your vision and identity; your separateness.

Ultimately, it answers the question, How can I find my integrity and live my life fully and effectively? The answer is a marriage of the heaven and earth within.

HOW TO READ YOUR PATHFINDER REPORT

Pathfinder Report is not a personal description. It is more of a 'How To' manual, attempting to clarify your potential and tell you how you can fulfil it.

There may seem to be some contradictions in the report, because human beings, and their lives, are full of paradoxes. Pathfinder Report shows you how to marry these differences within yourself.

Look out for themes and patterns that emerge in your mind as you read the report. These are your focal, strong, points of emphasis in your life.

As you read the report again, from time to time, more information will emerge.

You may find the report wordy. Words have been used intentionally, not only to convey meaning, but to create the magical effect of sounds woven together. They are the interpretative tool, used to capture the essence and the influence of the astrological symbolism. They are the channel. The effect is the path.

A note about parents. The nurturing, or inner, parent, more likely to be your father, with whom you relate on an unseen, spiritual level, in essence. can also be your mother, or anyone else who fulfilled that role in your life. The dominant, or outer, parent, more likely to be your mother, with, and through whom, you relate to the world, on the material plane, in so-called 'reality', can also be either. You will know which role has been played by whom or whether they have shared or alternated in these roles.

Each parent can take either role at different times. What is important is that your parents, or carers, have shared a parenting attitude and dynamic, and you have been influenced by it.

If there are parts of you portrayed that you do not readily recognise, think about denial and what you are not owning as your own. You may be attracting other people to fulfil parts of your chart that you are not fulfilling for yourself; eg the male role, the female role, your worldly image. Where you are given alternatives, they will not usually all be true for you.

Remember that, whether you are male or female, you will have both male and female parts of yourself, which need to function in relationship with each other. Otherwise you can never be a complete person and will always be dependent on someone else to fulfil these roles for you. In this way you can never take up your own power, but remain trapped in dependency.

For this reason this report does not have separate interpretations for men or women.

Finally, if there are parts of the interpretation with which you cannot identify, this may be because they are in potential and have not yet been developed to their fullest possibility. So do re-consider. You may not be conscious of these things at this time and they may become apparent later. Your potential will unfold in time, as you mature. So you have an idea of what is in store for you and what you need to develop.

Walk in beauty and happy travelling.

How Do I Get There?

Leo Ascendant

You deal with changes, crises and new beginnings with dignity, presence, graciousness, self-confidence, vitality; slow, measured capability, reliability, organising and leadership qualities, but tending towards grandiosity, dramatising your actions, expecting recognition and applause, often making much of very little.

Your path is to create a personal ego; to develop personal creativity, identity, individuality, magnanimity, power and authority; the power of your own Self, the enlightened personality; becoming the most of what you can personally be; recreating yourself in what you produce, children, relationships, works; functioning effectively; becoming a person in your own right; unique, proud to be who you are; giving of your true self with love, with generosity and warmth - unconditionally. You inspire others with your positive, sunny, optimistic and commanding attitude, generating enthusiasm; and confront challenges in order to succeed, not to win; taking control and command of all that is yours, self-control of your vital energy, in order to function effectually, with modesty and humility, not in order to compete or gain mastery over others, but in order to earn self-esteem from the experience of your own actions.

You need to focus your life through your life-giving energy; your spiritual self-sufficiency, your ability to heal through love, life and vitality; your inner radiance; the power of your personal will; generosity, sincerity, loyalty and expansiveness, stemming from your inner resource and ego strength, your moral decency; the divinity of your own creative force, which makes you a shining example for others; to take responsibility for what you produce, knowing it as the power of God within you, seeking expression through you, and through all that you possess and express. Only giving of this freely, unconditionally, will give you the inner recognition, the recognition of your own Self, and its expression, by yourself, which you need, in order to feel fulfilled; and the reflection of that in your creations; the feeling of well-being that results from full creative functioning; the pride that you feel in your self-propagation.

* ASC in Leo

Your path of personal identity will evolve through the radiation of innovation, altruism and individuality, in your daily, physical work, practical routines, mundane activities, service to others; adjustment to necessity; discipline and discipleship; practise of meaningful skills; taking care of your health; listening to the messages you receive from your body; self-purification, self-perfection, self-transformation and completion of your individuality; living your original nature in simplicity;

Mars in Aquarius

separating and differentiating yourself; forming individuality and an independent identity; self-definition and self-centredness; direction, drive, momentum, focus and one-pointedness; confidence, will and courage; projecting your Self outwards; developing assertiveness, self-sufficiency and models of effective action; potency; attaining short-term, material and worldly goals; with enduring, open-minded thought and revolutionary mental activity; through innovation, altruism and philanthropy; with caution, intellect and enterprise; progressive ideas and unconventionality; a passion for intellectual challenges, new ways of thinking, freedom and the future of humanity; channelling your desires into inventiveness and individuality; your sudden insights and rash decisions into social creativity; political causes, social changes, fights for the rights of humanity, freedom of speech and avante garde ideas; advances and modernism in art, literature, science or technology; needing to temper your tyrannical fanaticism and stubborn opinions with compassion for the human state. You express your ego-centredness through arguments and debates; inciting others to action; needing to exchange your passionate beliefs for a dose of the other fellow's point of view; your eccentricity and rebellion against tradition and authority for maturity and inner authority; and your abrasive, self-righteous outspokenness for a little tact and diplomacy; as you can be cold, cutting and alienating in your quest for change;

Mars in 6th House

channelling your energy and enthusiasm; dealing with conflicts; accepting challenges and confrontations; with vitality and youthful optimism; through organisation, efficiency, industry and activity in daily work routines; mundane and mechanical matters; vitality and health of the body; patience with employees and co-workers and their methods of operating;

Aries on 9th House Cusp

asserting your individuality and initiating action through the expansion of your horizons, mind and understanding of life, the search for meaning and purpose, your relationship to the universe; the building of a religious or spiritual philosophy; your psychological maturity;

Venus in 5th House

attaining inner and outer wealth; accumulating personal resources; expressing yourself artistically; attracting and expressing love, through your personal attractiveness and self-expression; personal creations; beautiful children and the pleasure that they give you; the wealth that they bring to you; hobbies, artistic or musical abilities; re-creative activities; the ability to attract love affairs and romantic encounters; to share fun and sensuality with lovers; and playful activities which enable you to feel more of who you are;

Virgo on 2nd House Cusp

building material stability and security, using your personal resources through work and service; skilful means and practicality;

* Taurus on 10th House Cusp bringing pleasure and beauty; ritualising; stabilising; giving form and value to your public or professional standing and status, your social position and image, what you achieve and contribute to the community, vocation and responsibility.

Saturn in Libra

In time, with caution, commitment and discipline; restraint and hard work; by throwing off parental expectations and social conditioning; and by taking responsibility for your own path, you can realistically channel your inner authority into your ambitious ability to balance your will through justice; bringing peace, harmony and equanimity into the world; possibly art or music; fairness, equality and truth; diplomacy; consideration for others' feelings; developing your artistic and aesthetic talents.

By accepting separateness, aloneness, and differentiation, which initially means exposing your vulnerability, you can build self-confidence, by developing sound and intuitive judgement; seriousness and loyalty in relationship and partnership; co-operation and collaboration; greater intimacy and intellectual understanding; commitment; allowing ambition to outweigh your fear; slowly; ultimately serving society through the mastery of your own life and the lessons which you have learned in it.

Saturn in 2nd House

You can enjoy the satisfaction of this learning process and the rewards and experience that you gain from it; the insight into and understanding of your meaning and purpose, when you have found it; the truth about yourself as opposed to what you were led to believe; and then the living of it by building new boundaries as you grow through the experience, burdens and responsibilities of the accumulation and use of wealth and resources; the establishment of physical and material stability; and the establishment of your own values; the validation and use of your own, inner, resources; the establishment of a security based on those inner resources.

Jupiter in 2nd House

You can break negative ties with the past, developing optimism and broader vision, planning for a brighter future; expanding out of repression and fear, beyond the bounds of your family; into a wider universe; gaining understanding of life's purpose and meaning, of your social relatedness and your place in the plan of things; and faith and trust in life's supportiveness; developing your own philosophy and intellectual expression, by exploring and taking up challenges in your approach to finances and material stability. Somehow you get your needs met, even though you spend carelessly and do not respect your possessions, because your attitude to money is optimistic and trusting. You will take risks financially and usually cope, often with the help of friends to support you when you are broke; nor do you lack generosity and will give away your last penny to help a friend. You like to gamble and often win, but are unable to hold on to these winnings. Your urge is to get beyond material needs and not have to deal with them; to find an easy solution to these problems;

Aries on 9th House Cusp

expanding your consciousness and understanding through self-assertion and a sense of your individual identity; through courage and personal authority.